

Hiking tour “Laguna Huara Huara” (Wara Wara) (1 day)

➤ Attractions

- This hiking tour is being characterized for its impressive views over the valley of Cochabamba and the Tunari mountain range with its numerous mountain lakes.

➤ Description

- By private transport we will leave Cochabamba in the morning and start our ascent through the Tunari National Park, a nature reserve with eucalyptus and pine forest that is bordering the city to the north. Quickly we will gain on altitude ascending through a multitude of serpentines. With each serpentine the view down to the city becomes more and more impressive. Leaving below the forest of the Tunari N.P. we will be able to enjoy an extensive view over the valley of Cochabamba and the Pico Tunari, the highest mountain of the majestic Tunari mountain range.
- Our hiking tour starts at 3,900 mts. of altitude at the mountain lake of Huara Huara which is one of the most important reservoirs of drinking water for the city of Cochabamba. We will ascend through a wild valley which will lead us to a ridge. We will follow the ridge to ascend a peak of an altitude of 4,350 mts. towering the Huara Huara mountain lake. The majestic view from the top of the peak captures a great part of the Tunari mountain range and its numerous mountain lakes. To descend we choose another valley where we will find llamas and alpacas as well as sheep brought here for pasturing.
- Back at the mountain lake of Huara Huara our lunch box will be waiting for us. After some rest our private transport will bring us back to Cochabamba where we will arrive in the afternoon.
